PRECONSENT: Info

NORC at the University of Chicago and the National Science Foundation have done the General Social Survey (GSS) for more than 50 years to keep a historical record of the concerns, experiences, attitudes, and practices of Americans. This is a follow-up survey to the 2022 GSS. You were selected from participants in the 2022 GSS for participation in this short follow-up survey. The information collected is used by policy makers, scientific researchers, government officials, and students to better understand Americans and better meet their changing needs.

The questions we'll ask have to do with your opinions and knowledge on a variety of important topics like science, technology, health, work, and religion. Some topics may be sensitive for you, and you can decline to answer any question.

Your participation does not involve any risks other than what you would encounter in daily life. Most participants find the survey to be interesting with a chance to think about things that matter to them. The survey will take 20 minutes to complete. You may also be contacted in the future to participate in a future round of the General Social Survey or another study established by the National Science Foundation. Participation in this round of the survey does not obligate you to participate in any future rounds of the General Social Survey or any other surveys. Any future participation on your part will again require us to gain your consent.

CONSENT: Categorical (Single)

Your participation is voluntary. However, all information that you provide will be kept in strict confidence. It is important to us to protect your privacy. All participants' answers are combined, and presented in the form of summary statistics, such as tables and graphs. If you decline to answer a question or a portion of the interview, data from other questions you have answered may be used in these summary statistics.

If you have questions about your rights as a research participant, you may call the NORC Institutional Review Board Manager toll-free at 1-866-309-0542. If you have questions about the General Social Survey, you can contact the project hotline at 1-888-837-8988.

Please press 'Next' to continue with the survey.
